OTHER EVENTS

At Neve Tzedek in Tel Aviv the new Suzanne Dellal Center for Theatre and Dance opened its doors. The director of the center is Yair Vardi. The new hall has room for about 400 spectators and a well-equipped stage. The reconstructed buildings of a former school are to serve as a venue for all the diverse dance activities of established as well as experimental companies. The complex also houses the studios of Batsheva and Inbal.

In July '88 the "Gevanim Bemahol" meeting again took place. Most young choreographers took part.

In Karmiel, a town in the north of the country, in 1988 and again in 1989 a three-day festival of dance took place. Thousands of folk dancers, ethnic group and most professional dance companies and groups performed there. The Artistic Director of the festival is Jonatan Karmon.

Among the foreign visiting companies were several from East Europe, as the virtual embargo on travel to Israel was lifted due to the fundamental changes taking place there. The ballet of the Riga Opera from Lithuania, stars from the Moscow Bolshoi, the Leningrad Kirov and from other Soviet companies came as well as the Moisseiev company.

The ballet of the Madrid Opera from Spain and the company of Maguy Marin from France toured Israel.

The Israel Dance Library moved to new premises at the Central Municipal Library of Tel Aviv.

Several independent choreographers produced and performed their own programs; among them were Tamar Ben-Ami, Hefziba Avraham, Liat Dror and Nir Ben-Gal (who also toured their work in Europe), Mimi Ratz-Weinberg, Miri Ben-Baruch, Ilan Leshem and other artists.
